

Healthy Start Virtual Grantees' Meeting
NACCHO's MAPP Training Breakout Session
June 24, 2020

Patricia Heinrich: Welcome everyone, please type questions in the chat

Colleen Bernard: <http://www.rootsofhealthinequity.org/>

Melanie Williams: moving from talk to action

Rachel Hanson: not engaging for those present or finding the right participants at the table

Chong-Min Fu-Sosnaud: Cannot commit to action steps. Everyone is short on time.

Jennifer Beane: Members not willing to serve on committees

Gaby Gonzalez (she/her): There's trouble with commitment to the committees

Jaminott: All of the things you just mentioned.

Mary Jolly: now we are having a hard time getting them to engage during COVID especially since they are health care

Jeff Keel: listening...not engaging

Cleston-lee Murray: It is difficult to start discussions. It seems like the participants come in and listen, like you said, but it is hard to get their input.

Chong-Min Fu-Sosnaud: Making sure we have the right people at the table

Idaniels: Members not being on the same page

Lindsay Ciavarelli: keeping consistent participants attending

LaRisha Baker: Retaining members and engagement

Sarah McCashland: getting key stakeholders to join

LILLIE FOX: all of the above

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Some families have to be introduced through case management and on top of all the other stuff that they do

Jada Shirriel - Healthy Start, Inc.: taking ownership of projects/work

Lindsay Ciavarelli: many competing home visiting/infant mortality groups in the community

Mary Jolly: before COVID we had lagging action from several committees

kmckinney: Alignment and development of capacity to impact needs

Lisa Matthews: Not able to get "decision makers" at the table

Juarlyn Smith: More community agencies engaged than participants

Ronnie Meyers, She/Her/Hers: Finding times that work for both community and organizational members.

Anna Gruver: Every program requires a CAN- NFP, MEICHV, HFA and Healthy Start- how to combine for a common vision

Cristina Rodriguez: Not able to find partners that will commit and stay

Greg Moore: yes listening but not engaging....even to take a survey

Jaminott: How to engage and sustain community members not just partner organizations

Sarah Moore: not showing up, not participating, not taking action, not following through, not actively referring clients or communicating with client CHWs

Ronnie Meyers, She/Her/Hers: There can be a lot of turnover with organizational reps. Keeping consistency with organizational members.

Tamela Milan-Alexander: No real incentives to get them involved by valuing their time

Greg Moore: Agencies show up but it is extremely difficult to get community or participants to attend meetings

Chong-Min Fu-Sosnaud:Talk explicitly about trust, equity, follow-through

Cristina Rodriguez: better location

Mary Jolly: continue to communicate. email regularly to stay connected with team

Dianne Browne:Communicate with individuals between meetings. Go to their meetings or events. Be a partner in community activities.

Imatthews: Members that are listening, but wanting you to do the the work and they just follow along. No action.

Melanie Williams: using results based facilitation skills and techniques

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Soft skill workshop on advocacy and speaking

Shamise Quinn: Current challenges- getting community members to come especially when there aren't much incentives

LaRisha Baker: Having meetings chaired and facilitated by community members

Sarah Moore: creating subcommittees, working on action plan; defining mission and goals of CAN

Anna Gruver: High level vision and agenda to establish ONE CAN to meet the needs of pregnant women and families with young children locally

Greg Moore: Hold meetings at locations where the community lives...in community rooms at apartments

Gaby Gonzalez (she/her): We are in the process of discussing participation/attendance (or lack there of) in one of our committees, and brainstorming new people we can invite based on each of our networks. That way we can go into this with requirements to be a part of the committee, and bringing new backgrounds/experiences to the table that we have been lacking.

Ronnie Meyers, She/Her/Hers: We have a community/consumer based leadership group that plans and facilitates the meetings

Sarah Moore: staying in frequent communication with members

Jaminott: Allow for partners to promote their projects as well not just my organization

Chanell Reed: Look for unnatural partners to serve on the CAN and not relying on health care professionals.

Jeff Keel: ASK the listeners to network and provide resources to build the group

Shamise Quinn: many organizations come to the meeting, but do not participate in terms of taking action

Jada Shirriel - Healthy Start, Inc.: community co-leads receive a stipend to lead the work so that there is strong community voice and ownership. less dependence on our admin leadership...

Juarlyn Smith: Before Covid 19 having consistent CAN meeting bringing new resources to the table worked great

elijah guidry: we have broken into 4 smaller workgroups

Katie Kenyon: Strong external (from Healthy Start) committee leadership

Chanell Reed: develop workgroups

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Child care stipend

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Gift cards

Ronnie Meyers, She/Her/Hers: Before COVID we had food, transportation and childcare offered

Greg Moore: Core team...helps pull together agenda and reviews data updates for the coalition. Subcommittees specializes in certain areas help get members involved in the areas they like

Jennifer's iPhone: meetings after 5 pm and on weekends

Melissa Hallenbeck: Making a workplan with small actions for each strategy that can be checked off at the meetings

Jennifer's iPhone: incentives for local participation

ronwhite: right

Cristina Rodriguez: it's a shared vision

Shamise Quinn: Do you establish MOUs between partners within the CAN. Or is that too formal and a way to push partner organizations away?

Shamise Quinn: And this is a general question for all

Jeff Keel: They want to make a difference

LILLIE FOX: what/how do you help the consumers buy in Tamela Milan-Alexander: We should be more intentional around community and participant input. Historically I have saw heavy provider presence from those who work within the community but dont understand the communities that they work in.

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Question are we collecting the right type of data concerning communities of color?

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Can you go back 2 slides

Sarojini Kanotra: where can we look for social and emotional health data?

Colleen Bernard: All session recordings and slides will be posted to the EPIC website

Melanie Williams: Do you have to be a NACCHO member to access the MAPP toolkit?

Victoria Ballard: Those are really great questions....

Patricia Heinrich: During the Q & A you all have the capacity to unmute your line. Click the microphone next to your name dsmill: Will we be able to get a copy of these slides?

Patricia Heinrich: yes slides will be available

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Can show the data questions again?

ronwhite: Excellent

Dianne Browne: Thank you very informative presentation.

ronwhite: I agree

Patricia Heinrich: All session recordings and slides will be posted to the EPIC website

Cristina Rodriguez: Hi Tamela . you can mention it in your quarterly reporting by adding an "additional information" section owusur: Will NACCHO provide a training on engaging our CAN partners?

Tamela Milan-Alexander: Not sure Cristina

Jaminott: I second Tamla's question

Ronnie Meyers, She/Her/Hers: thank you so much!!

in the reporting that you do when you answer your Benchmark questions, you can add any other things you want them to know
